I Like IT!Von Yasmin ColemanSunday Brunch by Norma Jarrett is a cute, little story about sister friends who meet in Law School and continue their friendship years later to include a Weekly Sunday Brunch. It's an enlightening story about female friendship, relationships, love, hope, courage and faith. The group of five friends Lexi, Capri, Jermane, Angel and Jewel while very different in personalities are all searching for self-truth, romantic love and the keys to happiness. Through all their trials and tribulations, their friendship, support of each other and eventual faith in God helps them to cope with everyday living. Lexi, the main character, who is the connecting link to the other 4 friends, is the primary narrative for Sunday Brunch. Lexi is the one whom the others can always depend on because they believe that she's the most together one. However, Lexi has concerns that include being single, finding a Christian Filled brother who wants the same things that she desires along with worries regarding the ongoing existence of her private practice. Capri is the business savvy sister with a sharp legal mind but who's afraid to open her heart to love. Jermane is married but her husband Rex is working too much and not giving her enough attention. Angel is divorced; she believes that men are only good for two things. Jewel has a law degree which she has never used, and champagne taste on a Volkswagen budget which more than not keeps her in debt and looking for Prince Charming to ride in and rescue her ...from herself. Sunday Brunch is an easy read that will sometimes test your patience as you wonder "can these sistas please handle their personal affairs as well as they handle their professional lives", "can they just make a decision to give a good brother a chance without agonizing over whether or now he's going to mistreat them" and "are they strong enough to show me and not always tell me that they're going to let go and let God take care of the situation". Sunday Brunch depicts friendship between women and the decisions women make in regards to their romantic relationships and is a cute, little story with a dash of spirituality told in an informal, casual, conversational style. Sunday Brunch left me feeling content and happy that I read it. 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Outstanding debut... Von Tanya Much love and support to Norma Jarret. I enjoyed this novel very much. This story is about ambitious women and the men in their lives. Lexi is the connection to all her friends. She's spiritually grounded. Wondering why God is answering all her prayers for her friends but not her's. Angel doesn't believe in God until she receives some disappointing news. She doesn't want to give into love again and be hurt. Jewel is very irresponsible and materialistic. She needs to be on a budget. Kevin came in her life at the right time. Jermane is married to a man that loves his job. He hasn't been spending alot of time with her. She feels a need to define herself and her future. The transformation begins when she meets Naegel. Capri is a very talented attorney who isn't looking for love until she finally gives Anthony a chance. Once again, I loved this book from cover to cover. I wish this author much success. I'm not sure what book one of the readers read but I disagree with the review. Keep the faith Norma. Be Blessed. 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. refreshing Von terry palmer I truly enjoyed Ms. Jarrett's debut novel. It was refreshing to read such positive, tasteful, exciting material. She definitely has a "new voice." It was definitely a "tasty" page turner. The characters were well developed and interesting. I also disagree with the one reader; obviously there may be some personal issues, because every review of this novel I have encountered on line and personally has been outstanding! Although everyone is entitled to their opinion, there is always one "hater" in the crowd. Much success to you Ms. Jarrett - a very talented and gifted sister!

Kurzbeschreibung Waiting to Exhale meets Church Folk as five female attorneys do brunch each week to trade tales about their love lives, law firms, and the Lord! Meet Capri, an attorney at a top Houston firm. She seems to have it all together all the time until a seductive client topples her self-control. Then there's Jermane, a devout Catholic who met her husband in law school and has never been with another man. But now her workaholic marriage is threatened by temptation. Angel, on the other hand, sees men merely as a means to sex. Her scorn for love of all kinds godly or otherwise is challenged by a serious health scare. Meanwhile, Jewel bases her dating choices on the size of a man's bank account until she meets a new flame who causes her to reconsider her requirements. Finally, there's Lexi, the link between the ladies, who provides sage advice while praying for Mr. Right. But what happens when depression hits hard? Through conversation and consolation, these dynamic characters provide one another with divine inspiration encouraging readers to root for them along the way. From Booklist Five women met during law school in Houston and used Sunday brunch as a way to unwind. Since graduating, they have maintained the tradition and remained close. The storyteller, Alexis "Lexi" Parker, is struggling with her faith. She is the spiritual and commonsense anchor of the group but has not found someone to fill that role for her. Jermaine Richmond met her husband in law school. He is now a partner at her father's firm and is having difficulty balancing impressing his father-in-law and keeping Jermaine content. Capricia "Capri" Sterling is on the fast track to partner. Yet, she is merely maximizing her earning potential while assuming responsibility for her ailing grandmother and younger sister. Jewel Whitaker is a self-absorbed only child obsessed with the material trappings of success. Angelica "Angel" Capers is recently divorced and is experiencing health issues that have caused her to reassess her position on love and family. Each woman ultimately has her prayers answered by recognizing the importance of nurturing a strong faith, life, and family relationships. Lillian Lewis Copyright American Library Association.
