Build up your own paradiseVon SkatersallyAmber Pepper had a well-ordered life Hugh, her fianc, dealt with jewellery and treat her as his biggest treasure. So he asked her to go with him on a business trip to Tahiti. As Amber likes the weather in Oxford, she hesitated. But soon she decided to do him that favour. That would be an opportunity to reanimate her friendship with Felicity. They knew each other from school, until Felicity moved to New Zealand. That is not far away from Tahiti and they could see each other and have a good time while Hugh was working. Just arrived at the airport they met Sandrine. She was Hugh's colleague. What a surprise that she also booked the same flight and is going to live in the same resort at Tahiti. Or was it just a surprise for Sandrine to realise that Hugh is not alone in paradise? Down in the Caribbean Amber was not sure about her feelings for Hugh. She always felt that there should be more. After a leisure evening at a bar, she doubted if she really was content. Maybe she could blame that gorgeous dancer? However, Hugh had done so much for her, he deserved a nice trip. She should be excited as Hugh proposed in that amazing scenery. Every woman in love would be happy. Nevertheless, there must be more. And there is never a good time for bad news. So Amber informed Hugh about her decision and he directly changed her flight ticket. Therefore, she has to go much earlier than thought. Luckily, there is a rainstorm at the airport, and even better, she met the dancer again. This is the fifth novel of Belinda Jones. The author is known as a writer of contemporary stories. She always manages to describe the protagonists in a loveable and emphatic way. There is no difference between this book and the previous. It is also a fast-reading story in a fluent style. Except this one seems to be a little too predictable. Firstly, there are too many pages with discussions between the two girls, who have their own little problems. Sometimes it appears that they do not really talk to each other. Then the plots begin to rush, before at the end everybody seems to notice the important things of life in a miraculously way. In my opinion I was used to read better novels from Ms Jones. However, in conclusion it is a nice story about friendship, love, own desires, culture shock and how to cope with all those. If you never ever read a book from Belinda Jones it will be nice entertainment though. Therefore, there are still four stars. 2 von 3 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. The perfect holiday-fling-fantasy!!! Von Bookworm I just picked this book up at a local bookstore last week, and finished it after just three days. It's a wonderful book that will certainly put you in the mood for a nice holiday ...! It definitely made me want to buy a ticket to Tahiti to find my very own Tezz!!! Belinda Jones is always great at making you feel as if you are at some exotic location yourself ... if you like this book then you should read her others, too ... especially "I love Capri" and "The California Club"!!!

Kurzbeschreibung When Amber Pepper's jeweller boyfriend Hugh asks her to join him on a business trip to the paradise islands of Tahiti she's not keen - Amber loves big jumpers and rain. She'd rather be pedalling through puddles at home in Oxford than lolling in the gel-blue waters of the South Pacific. However, the prospect of sipping Mai Tais with her long-lost friend Felicity is incentive enough to coax her on the twenty-hour flight. Within hours of touching down on coral sands the girls venture into a seductive new world of mesmerising music, exotic black pearls and sexy strangers. And for the first time Amber falls head over flip-flops in lust, only to receive an unexpected marriage proposal. Will she opt for a barefoot beach wedding or cast caution - and her coconut bra - to the wind? No easy decision for a drizzle-loving gal when it's ninety degrees in the shade... Pressestimmen "You won't want to put this feel-good read down" (Company Magazine) Werbetext The sparkling new novel from the bestselling author of The California Club
