Lighthearted RompVon Helen HancoxThis is the third in MaryJanice Davidsons series about the alternate version of history where Alaska is a separate country with its own royal family. In this story Nicole Krenski, a film script writer and hunting guide in the Alaskan wilderness, discovers after her mother's death that her father is King Alexander II of Alaska and she is therefore the heir to the throne, being the eldest child. Initially she's reluctant to become part of the royal family but soon finds herself part of the fun-loving and loud family. With bodyguard Jeffrey Rodinov at her side and more Nicole starts to discover what life as a royal is really like. This is actually quite a short book with most chapters just a few pages long, another sub-romance (that of the King and his biographer) as part of the story, and little actual emphasis on the romance with Jeffrey. It's written as a romp with various side characters who appeared in previous books showing up in this one again. There's little depth to this story but it's fun for the most part. Kurzbeschreibung Jeffrey Rodinov is descended from one of the oldest families in Alaska, and a Rodinov has been protecting a Baranov for generations. No one ever sees Jeffrey Rodinov coming, and no one-not even a mouthy, illegitimate princess-is going to keep him from playing bodyguard when his king decrees it. But no Rodinov ever had to protect Princess Nicole Krenski. Her credentials? Hunting guide in the Alaskan wilderness. Smart. Stubborn bordering on exasperating. The lady says she doesn't need a bodyguard, but that's where she's wrong. Someone needs to watch her and show her the royal ropes. Someone who can make her feel like a queen-in and out of bed. Praise for MaryJanice Davidson "Unwavering in her humor. . ." -Romantic Times Kurzbeschreibung Jeffrey Rodinov is descended from one of the oldest families in Alaska, and a Rodinov has been protecting a Baranov for generations. Praise for MaryJanice Davidson "Unwavering in her humor. . ." - Romantic Times Synopsis Nicole Krenski has no desire to give up her nice sane life to be a princess. And she definitely doesn't need a bodyguard - not even a gorgeous hunk like Jeffrey Rodinov. Jeffrey takes his job seriously, but he's never had to protect a woman like Nicole. What she needs is someone who can make her feel like a queen - in an out of bed. And that's a job he takes very seriously as well...
