Von Christina FrsterIch kann diese kurze Geschichte empfehlen. Sie geht ans Herz, erinnert an die widerspenstige

Zhmung und hat ein HappyEnd. Was will frau mehr? ;)

Kurzbeschreibung Matt Alexander was Hollywoods most notorious playboy, and he enjoyed every minute of it. Until his sins caught up with him and he died in a freak accident. Now, to avoid the fiery depths of hell, he must face his most difficult challenge yet. He has ten days to win the love of introverted librarian Evelyn Hyde. Problem is the blasted woman is more interested in taking Charles Dickens to bed than him. Evelyn has lived a sheltered existence, finding contentment in the classic tales she enjoys night after night. Love is the last thing on her mind. She is more than happy to live vicariously through the characters found in her collection of timeless books. Then Matt Alexanders ghost drops into her world, upsetting her perfectly ordinary life. Despite her best efforts to ignore him, Evelyn slowly discovers the thrill of falling in love. Unfortunately, its with a man no more tangible than the fictional heroes she reads about . . . until desire teaches them both how truly magical the soul can be.
